MALCOLM BRIDGES ELECTED EDITOR FLAT HAT, WATKINS BUSINESS MANAGER

J. Malcom Bridges, of Williamsburg, was chosen Editor-in-Chief of the Flat Hat for the session of 1924-25 at a meeting of the Staff held Wednesday evening, and Frank Nat Watkins, of Farmville, Va., was elected to the position of Business Manager.

Mr. Bridges, who is a son of H. L. Bridges, Registrar of the College, is of the Class of 1925. Though he has never been actively engaged in work on the College publication before, Mr. Bridges has been a student in the Department of Journalism throughout the present year. Since entering College, he has been active in many phases of campus life. He is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, and of the Cotillion Club, being a member of the Floor Committee of the latter.

Sigma U. Meets

Messrs James A. Doyle and George A. Downing were hosts to the Gordon Hope Chapter of the Sigma Upsilon Literary Fraternity at the Sigma Phi Epsilon House on Thursday night. The feature of the program was a short talk by Professor Spicer, of the Department of Business Administration. After the meeting, which was well attended, refreshments were served at the home of Reverend Dr. Powell.

Watkins Re-elected Pres. Cotillion Club

Frank Nat Watkins, of Farmville, Va., was elected president of the Cotillion Club at a meeting held Tuesday night. Tancil Maclin, of Emporia, was elected vice-president, and Watkins Booth, of Petersburg, secretary and treasurer. After the election of officers, plans for the final dances were discussed, and a committee appointed to report financial standing, and plans for invitations at the next meeting of the club.

Election Notice

Tuesday, May 13, is student election day.

Elsewhere in this issue appears the official ballot for the election, bearing the names of all nominees for the offices to be voted for. All votes must be on this ballot, and must be signed by the voter.

A ballot box will be in the Main Building from 9 o'clock until 5 o'clock Tuesday, and no ballot will be accepted after 5 o'clock. Positively no ballot will be accepted except in the form appearing in this issue, and every student is urged to clip this ballot and save it so that his vote may count.

Nine Men Elected To Eta Of O. D. K.

Eta Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa at its meeting on Thursday night, May 1, elected the following men to membership:

Tommy Jordan, Larry C. Green, W. E. Spicer, David C. George, W. E. Bull, Thomas W. Evans, F. N. Watkins, C. E. Holladay, Russell Stuart.

At the same time, Dr. J. R. Geiger was elected an active member from the faculty.

Initiation will be held on Saturday, May 24, following which a banquet will be given the new members in the college dining hall.

Omicron Delta Kappa is strictly an honorary society, to recognize men who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities, bringing together in one organization the most representative men in all phases of collegiate life. Election is based on prominence or special distinction in scholarship, athletics, social leadership, including conspicuous service to the institution, work on publications and literary and forensic activities

Chemists Organize

The Chemistry Club of William and Mary, which organized last night, May 6, elected the following officers:

Luke Roberts—Chief chemist.
Donald Lee Goodwin—Junior chemist.

Lomax Wells—Keeper of the formulae.

W. F. Fitchugh—Chief assayer.

The club will have as their guest Friday night, May 9, Professor John H. Yoe, of the University of Virginia, who will make an address in chapel on "Colloidal Chemistry." Colloidal chemistry at the present time is one of the most important branches of the science of chemistry and a great amount of research work is being done in this line of work. Everyone is invited to come and hear Professor Yoe as it will be highly instructive, as well as interesting.

Miss Foster Back

Mary Custis Foster, undergraduate representative of the Y. W. C. A., has returned from the national convention of the Y. W. C. A., held in New York City, April 30 to May 6. Miss Foster first attended a student convention at Delaware Water Gap, to which she had been appointed as representative of all the students of the Southeast. This convention was held April 24-28. Representatives at this convention continued on to New York to lead discussion groups of student problems at the national convention.

Miss Foster is now president of the Y. W. C. A. in the State of Virginia.

Audience Pleased With Barnes' Recital

When Foster Barnes returned to William and Mary Tuesday evening, to appear in concert under the auspices of the Williamsburg branch of the American Association of University Women, he brought smiles of satisfaction to the faces of those who predicted in his college days that his was the voice of an artist. Many in his audience remembered his former appearances in local churches and in concerts by the college quartet, and found satisfaction in the remarkable development of a voice that even in his amateur days was rich in artistic quality.

Though he followed a fixed program, the entire recital was generously interspersed with charming encores. The outstanding number on his regular program was the aria, "Vision Fugitive," from Massenet's "Herodiade," in which he displayed to advantage his dramatic ability, excellent control, and a pleasing French diction.

The fifth group, consisting of four negro spirituals, "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?" "Keep a-Inchin' Along," "Little David" and "When De Mornin' Comes," showed a marked power of

Rumors Unfounded, President Says

Certain rumors have been making the rounds of the campus the past few weeks to the effect that many of the courses now offered in the School of Business Administration would not be offered next year. In a few instances it has even been said that this department would be discontinued altogether.

Believing these rumors to be detrimental to the college as a whole and to be the cause of much unnecessary dissatisfaction and discussion among the students, especially those primarily interested in business subjects, the Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity at a recent meeting appointed a committee to interview the president of the college in an effort to find out if there existed any foundation for the rumors in question.

Echo To Be Here On Time Say Staff

All details for the publication of the 1924 Colonial Echo are practically complete, and it is expected that the book will be ready for distribution by June 1, according to Ted Dalton, Editor.

The entire staff has been hard at work since early in the Fall, and the many details of photography, advertising, senior write-ups, fraternity and club layouts, and literary work, have been completed, so that practically all the material is now in the hands of the contractors, and proof

Carolina Wolfpack Chews Up Indians

The Indians lost their third game in as many days when North Carolina State defeated them in a one-sided contest, 19-0, on the new athletic field Saturday. Coach Tasker started Green on the mound, but Richmond, Taylor and Lane were all victims of the visitors' savage stick-work.

Redfern pitched a masterful brand of ball for the visitors, the Indians securing but four singles. Moss, the Indians' left fielder, played a great game, securing many difficult catches. Parsons secured two of the Indians' four hits.

The visitors' infield made three double plays. Johnson, Lassiter, Johnston led them in hitting, with three each. Lassiter made the first home-run in the new athletic field.

Spiders Victors In Friday's Contest

Saffelle again put forth a noble effort last Friday to bring victory to William and Mary, but once more he became the victim of poor support, and the University of Richmond won a 5-to-2 victory over the Indians in a fast game on Cary Field. That there was something lucky in the Spiders' victory is evident when it is remembered that William and Mary earned two runs to the visitors' one.

The dawn of the struggle spelled defeat for William and Mary, for what might have been victory was turned into certain defeat when an outfield error gave the Spiders a three-run lead in the initial inning, and again in the fourth an infield muff pushed another run across the

To Alumni Of 1891-95

Percy H. Lash, A. B., '95, wishes to meet all his classmates and friends of the period 1891 to 1895, on the campus in June. He says:

"Will the boys of that period join me there to renew our friendship of those happy days, show our love for our Alma Mater, and give unanimous appreciation to those who are guiding the College in its progress today? Let every one come, and we shall have a grand old reunion."

copies of the book will arrive in a few days.

The book, according to the staff,
will contain a wealth of interesting features, and from all indications will be designed, both as to cover and arrangement of contents, in a plain, yet attractive fashion. The cover-design will be very dignified, and entirely free of gaudiness, and the interior matter will be arranged in a manner pleasing to the eye, yet retaining, in spite of its new designs throughout, and entirely artistic effect.

Mr. Mawson, the Business Manager, states that a strict check will be kept on the delivery of the books, and only those students who have paid their activities fees in full will receive copies. He urges that all students who have not paid up to see the Treasurer at once, and make some arrangement so that the books may be distributed promptly upon receipt.

SPORTS

CINDER-DIAMOND

Although the majority of games have been lost this season, there is not the least need for the team or the students to give up the baseball season as one that is lost. There still remains eight games on the schedule, including another crack at the Richmond nine, with the game on home grounds also. Coach Tasker is still there fighting and has not given up the old ship. The men on the team should remember that teams have lost more games than they have in a row, and then started the upward climb. Virginia started off like a flash, winning the first nine games, and since Easter the Cavaliers have won only one game out of eight.

By winning the next three home games, which they certainly should, the team will leave on the Northern trip with a renewed spirit, which seems to be the main trouble with the Indian nine.

* * * *

One miscue will ruin any ball game, and it was in evidence in the first game with Richmond, when a fly ball was dropped. In the second game with the Spiders, in the first inning a batter scored a home run on a bunt, with one man on. This is enough to discourage any pitcher.

* * * *

The track team should make a good showing in the College South Atlantic this Saturday in Richmond. The Indian runners stand a chance of being near the top, in total points, if Coach Jones takes a full squad up. The absence of Scrap Chandler will cut down about eight or ten points for the Indians.

* * * *

The shut-out handed the team by the N. C. State nine last Saturday was the first one of the season, and incidentally the third shut-out handed an Indian line in the last five years.

* * * *

A game that would draw a good size crowd in this town would be one between Syracuse and N. C. State. Probably the outfield would have to be enlarged, to some extent.

* * * *

The freshman had a successful week, winning the triangle track meet last Saturday, against the county high schools, while the ball team defeated the Christ Church nine by the score of 9 to 1.

Track Team Off

The track team left this morning for the College South Atlantic, in Richmond. Coach Jones did not take a full team, but only those men who got either a first or second place in the meet with Trinity yesterday.

Such teams as Richmond, Wake Forest, Davidson, Trinity, Hampden-Sidney, Randolph-Macon, Lynchburg, Guilford and all other teams in the College South Atlantic division will be represented in the meet.

Possibly the hardest team the Indians will have to compete against in the meet will be their old rivals, Richmond. The Spiders have one of the best track teams in the South Atlantic division this year. Their strongest point is in the running events and the hurdles. With Tharpe, their crack 440 and 880 man, bearing the brunt of the work, the Richmond team should be among the top-notchers in total points.

The Indian runners should give a good account of themselves, and they will also have a chance to get a line on their Spider opponents, whom they face in a dual meet next Saturday, in Richmond.

Miss Moody Victor In Tennis Tourney

The finals of the girls' tennis tournament was played off last Saturday before one of the largest galleries that have witnessed a match this season. The finalists were Captain Elleen Moody, of the tennis team, and Anna Wilkins. The match went to three sets and it was as close as any spectator could have wished.

At the beginning of the third set, when the score stood one set each, Moody started off with a rush, placing her shots well and returning difficult ones. Before Wilkins could recover from this opening rush the score stood four games to none against her. Then the comeback, the score soon being 4-2; then Moody took another game, making it 5-2. Wilkins then began to settle down for a last desperate fight. She brought the score up to 5-5, but there she was stopped and Moody took the next two games, winning the match.

Score—6-4; 5-7; 7-5.

Guilford Wins

By bunching their hits in the first four innings, Guilford took a close game from the Indians last Thursday, by the score of 4 to 1.

They took the lead in the first inning, with three safeties and two runs, and managed to garner ten hits before the final out, seven of these coming in the first four innings.

Burge, pitching for Guilford, allowed the Indians but four hits, two of these being made by Hicks. Elmore, our only southpaw, pitched a tight game, and many of the hits made by the visitors should have been safely handled by the Indian outfield. For the visitors Ferrell, C. Frazier and J. Frazier were the heavy sluggers.

Freshmen Win

The William and Mary freshman last Saturday captured the triangle meet held at the Fair Grounds, by the close margin of two points. Coach Jones had expected at least ten county high schools to participate in the meet but only two showed up, Norfolk County H. S. and Northampton H. S.

Meades, of W. & M., was high point man of the meet with first in the 100 yard dash and first in the broad jump.

The 100 yard dash was the best event with Meades and Spear finishing only a yard apart; running the event in 10 4/5, good time considering the track. Yates, another freshman, had an easy time in the 440, winning by a wide margin. Davis, W. & M., broad jumped 20' 1" but was disqualified on account of overstepping the mark.

Summary—100 Yard Dash—1st, Meades, W. & M.; 2nd, Spear, Norfolk C.; 3rd, Seal, W. & M.

his team-mates failed to bring the necessary support and twice he had to be content with third base as his limit.

Golden opportunity came to William and Mary in the second inning, when Denton, lead-off man, drove out a double scoring Wesson, who had been hit by a pitched ball; Denton scored on Parson's long fly, but the rally fell short when Johnson mastered the situation and retired the remaining Indian batsmen. In the seventh an opportunity once more presented itself to the Indians when Hicks hit to right field and stole second as the heavy-hitting Parson stepped to the plate; but Hicks was caught attempting to steal third base and the rally was nipped in the bud.

To William and Mary the game meant merely another addition to their long losing streak, while to Richmond it meant a victory over an ancient and usually formidable rival.

TWO POEMS BY THEIR AUTHORS

The following poems were read by their authors at the meeting of the Tidewater women at the college on the anniversary of Cape Henry Day, April 26. Both poems were written for the occasion:

CAPE HENRY

April 26, 1607

To the Students of William and Mary:
The sands are hushed and lonely as the moon:
When thrush and phebe pour a silver tune
Upon the golden silence, they but make
The stillness yet more still: a twig may break
Beneath an Indian tread—
The hush is only deepened on the strand.
More silent than the silence of the dead,
Expectant, like a couchant monster, lies
Age upon age the solitary land,
!Pregnant with freedom, big with destinies.
Immeasurably vast — supreme—sublime—
The patience of the forests where slow time
Is waiting . . . waiting . . . for one April day!
Ten thousand times ten thousand lavish moons
Have spilled their largesse on these desolate dunes;
Upon this quiet bay
A million suns have shown
That this one April morning upon the world might dawn!

And see the great oaks shake
Their mighty limbs in wonder!
Awake, young winds! Awake!
Winds of the clean, wild woods, of the hills and streams,
Blow, blow a favoring gale
On yonder gallant sail
That bears a cargo of man's dearest dreams!
Banner of hope, of high desire, it gleams
Out of the shutting mists of old despair.
Sing, lark and bluebird! Let the untainted air
Ring with your song, and let the welcoming earth
Blossom in purple and gold for freedom's glorious birth!
Today we stroll in thought along the dunes
Of fair Lynn Haven, read the delicate runes
Old winds have writ upon the sand and sod.
Now suddenly upon the jasmine flowers
Or over fern and moss,
A darkness falls that is not shadow of ours;
May it not be the memory of the cross
Our fathers placed here unto freedom's God?

In His great name we call to you today,
You sons and daughters of Virginia;
You in whose eager eyes
Is still the glad surprise
Of dawn on virgin lands—
We cry to you as stricken Europe cries,
In agony of hope—and fear—and trust—
Lift with your strong young hands
The spirit of freedom from dishonoring dust!
Let not that sail in vain have been unfurled
That bore the hopes of all the waiting world!
Nor be your fathers' fathers sacrificed
In vain within the shadow of our first rude cross of Christ!

BALLAD FOR CAPE HENRY DAY

From Blackwall, hard by London Town, on a bleak December day,
From Blackwall in the morning, through mists of sodden gray,
From Blackwall in the morning, the brave ships fell away.

The Susan Constant's mariners
Slipped chain with song and laughter,
And cheers for the Discovery,
And the Goodspeed, coming after.

(In vain did sullen Philip scowl,
And his high grandees complain,
"These mariners would singe the beard
Of the haughty King of Spain!")

Past Margate sailed the sturdy three,
And Broadstairs was in sight;
Past Ramsgate;—at the shallow Downs
To anchor in the night,—

As wind-driven rain and hale swept in.
"She'll founder in the tide!
In with your topsails, lash the helm!"
Stout Captain Newport cried.
Six days the furious tempest raged,
The wind would not be stayed.

Six days the great seas washed the decks,
And the captain cursed and prayed.

Well might the gentle Robert Hunt
In anguish, hope no more,
And gaze with homesick, longing eyes
At the distant Kentish shore.

And well the doughty Captain Smith
Sigh for the vanished days

When the Lady Tragabigzanda
Sang him amorous Turkish lays,—
For boyhood years in Lincolnshire,
For the crash of wars alarms,
When he won in fight at Regal
Three Turk's heads for his arms.
Though the good ships seemed most foully doomed
To founder with all hands,
Or drive, three derelicts, to sea,
Or wreck on Goodwin sands,
Well known was Newport's seamanship
Wherever sailors roam,
For not in vain, as Raleigh's man,
He brought his Carrack home,—
The great Madre de Dios,
With a fortune in her hold,
Freighted closed to the water line
With silver bars and gold,—
A high and fearless heart beat true
Under his sailor's coat,
And sturdy and undaunted still
He kept his craft afloat
Till the wind died suddenly one night,
And the new day brought the sun,
A flown sheet and a fair wind,
And the voyage well begun,
Oh, well, begun on New Year's Day
To the New World in the west,—
God, and Saint George for England,
And brave men for the rest!
It was April in Virginia
When the mariners touched shore
On such a fair and gracious land
As none had seen before.
For April to Virginia came
As April comes today,
With mocking bird, and cardinal,
With warbler, thrush, and jay,

interpretation of the spirit of negro folk songs. As an encore to this group he offered "Lindy Lou," a serenade, which brought a storm of applause from the audience.

Mr. Barnes' humorous interpretation of the "Song of the Flea," a trapesty on Mefistopheles' Song, was, from a less serious point of view, the hit of the evening. His grandiloquent rendition of such an absurd theme was especially well executed and most pleasing.

In the last group, consisting of ballads of the popular variety, in English, served well in showing the singer's ability to handle the lighter class of music. Bartlett's "Sweet Little Woman O' Mine," "The Floral Dance," from the English, and Densmore's arrangement of Masfield's "I Must Down to the Seas Again," were especially good, while "On the Road to Mandalay," offered as a substitute number by request, was excellent.

As a closing number to his program, Mr. Barnes offered a sweet, simple little lullaby, playing his own accompaniment, and singing in a low, rich tone that thrilled his audience. From the standpoint of emotional effect, this was doubtless the feature of the program, and was a delightful conclusion to an excellent recital.

The college is grateful to the University Women of Williamsburg for their efforts in bringing Mr. Barnes here. From a cultural standpoint, his appearance here is of inestimable value, and to many offered a rare opportunity to hear a real artist.

CAPE HENRY BALLAD

With jasmine chiming golden bells,
And the laurels all abloom,
And the thrust of the arbutus' scent
Piercing the forest's gloom.

With wild strawberries on the dunes,
And white gulls on the wing,
With earth and sky and sea and sand
Flushed with the tide of spring!

Mariner and adventurer
In silence sank in prayer,
Then built a cross of studry drift
And raised and set it there,— Adventurers, adventurers, we know your hopes and fears, Adventurers, we share your joys and
shed your bitter tears,
Adventurers,—and comrades, across three hundred years!

RUMORS UNFOUNDED, PRESIDENT STATES

Dr. Chandler expressed surprise that such rumors should be afloat and assured the committee that there would be no change in the courses now offered unless other courses deemed to be more useful were added or substituted. He said further that it is his desire and aim to maintain the present high standard of the department, to improve it if possible, in order that the ever increasing number of young men and women who come to the college may receive training in business subjects on par with that offered by any educational institution anywhere, and which will fit them to take places of constructive prominence in the business affairs of the State.
